Position Overview:

The Chronic Disease Prevention (CDP) Public Health Nurse (PHN) works to implement the Ontario Public Health Standards (OPHS) related to the Chronic Disease Prevention and Well-Being requirement and components of the Injury Prevention requirement. This includes work to address population health and health inequities, related to topics including healthy eating, poverty, food security/insecurity, physical activity, sedentary behaviour, built environment, mental health promotion, sun safety, injury prevention and healthy aging. The CDP PHN plans, implements and evaluates a variety of initiatives in collaboration with community partners to address the requirements listed in the OPHS.

The CDP PHN works with a wide variety of key partners in settings such as communities, municipalities and schools, as well as with the general public. The CDP PHN uses an upstream, comprehensive health promotion approach. This includes using available data, best practice evidence, and comprehensive health promotion theories and frameworks to assess and take action on local community needs. This may include elements of policy development, community mobilization, community capacity building, creating supportive environments and advocacy.

See Public Health Nurse position description for further details of the PHN role.

Minimum Requirements of the Job Include:

- Baccalaureate Degree in Nursing (4 Year).
- Certificate of Registration as a Registered Nurse with the College of Nurses of Ontario, which is renewed annually.
- Current CPR level C.

- New graduates may be considered.
- Demonstrated Oral and Written Communication Skills to present information in various formats relevant to the audience;
- Demonstrated ability to synthesize nursing theories and knowledge from the public health sciences, including the determinants of health, arts and humanities and primary care to develop nursing interventions with clients;

- Demonstrated knowledge of the factors contributing to chronic disease;
- Demonstrated knowledge and application of epidemiological principles in using strategies such as surveillance and education;
- Demonstrated ability to critically assess and interpret health status data, trends in nursing and health related research, and apply best-practice knowledge to planning and implementation of program initiatives in a variety of settings and client;
- Demonstrated skill in conducting comprehensive holistic health assessments with individuals, families, groups and communities to identify and provide appropriate interventions to build capacity for health;
- Demonstrated understanding of legislation, protocols and standards which are relevant in public health nursing practice;
- Demonstrated knowledge and experience related to population health and health equity and the application of health promotion theories including primordial and primary prevention theories and practices and the Ottawa Charter.
- Demonstrated knowledge and skill in planning and evaluating programming;
- Demonstrated skill in critical thinking, analysis and creative problem-solving;
- Demonstrated time management and organizational skills including priority setting;
- Demonstrated skills in collaboration, negotiation and problem-solving;
- Demonstrated skills in Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint and Outlook and the ability to demonstrate the technological skills to support work with the program communication, information systems and databases required to support program delivery;
- Demonstrated ability to work independently within established program parameters; and
- Demonstrated diplomacy and political astuteness.

Preference will be given to candidates with the following qualifications which are considered assets in this competition:

- Recent and relevant experience in the application of comprehensive health promotion theories and practices, such as the Ottawa Charter and Determinants of Health approach;
- Recent and relevant experience developing and maintaining partnerships with communities, municipalities and/or schools in the District of Muskoka; and
- Recent and relevant experience working on issues related to health inequities and their disproportionate impact on vulnerable and racialized populations.
